

Why do I want to attain a higher education? There are many reasons, in the essay that follows you will read why I believe that there is importance in furthering education, and the immense value of education.

What is the value of education? Education is vital to get a good job. Education teaches you how to read, write, and it also teaches you social skills. If you can't read, how will you know how to read a manual for operating a complex and/or dangerous machine? If you can't write, how will you communicate with your boss if an email or letter is necessary? I also think that education teaches you social skills. In elementary, recess provides kids the basics to make friends and have fun. In high school, classroom hands-on activities may require students to learn to communicate to accomplish a goal. I believe that there are many benefits to education.

Is there any importance in further education? I believe that the answer is yes! If you get a four year degree it could possibly open up more job opportunities. If you are able to put a four year, or two year degree on your resume it could possibly increase your chances of being hired. By furthering your education you may be able to raise your salary. If you go to college to get your masters degree, you could earn more than if you just got your bachelors degree. I also think that going to college can prepare you for life. It allows you to be social, and still be in the school setting. For some people a two year college may be the right answer. These colleges prepare you to go directly into the workforce. As discussed, there are many benefits to a further education above high school.

In conclusion, I think that there are many benefits to education, and further education. These may include learning how to read and write, possibly get a higher salary, and have the skill necessary to go directly into the workforce after graduation.
